1. Background:

The Constitution of Nepal has the provision of the right to get free basic health services from the state as a fundamental right of the citizens of Nepal. Considering the importance of healthy and productive citizens in the nation's development, the state has an obligation to ensure equitable access to quality and easily accessible health services by increasing investment in this sector. In this context, as per the concept of a welfare state, it is necessary to gradually transform the health sector from being a profit-oriented to service-oriented. According to the self & shared rule of the Constitution, the federal, state and local levels are responsible for health services.

As a result of various programmes implemented in the health service, the infant mortality rate per thousand live births has decreased to 32, the neonatal mortality rate has decreased to 21, the child mortality rate (under five years) has decreased to 39 and the maternal mortality rate has decreased to 239 (per one hundred thousand live births) and total fertility rate is 2.3 per woman. Similarly, the rate of stunting in children below five years has decreased to 36 per cent.

According to household survey of Biratnagar 2076, total population is 305529. According to age & sex, below five populations are 19312.

Table 1: under 5 children according to sex and age

1. Background

The Constitution of Nepal has the provision of the right to get free basic health services from the state as a fundamental right of the citizens of Nepal. Considering the importance of healthy and productive citizens in the nation's development, the state has an obligation to ensure equitable access to quality and easily accessible health services by increasing investment in this sector. In this context, as per the concept of a welfare state, it is necessary to gradually transform the health sector from being a profit-oriented to service-oriented. According to the self & shared rule of the Constitution, the federal, state and local levels are responsible for health services.

As a result of various programmes implemented in the health service, the infant mortality rate per thousand live births has decreased to 32, the neonatal mortality rate has decreased to 21, the child mortality rate (under five years) has decreased to 39 and the maternal mortality rate has decreased to 239 (per one hundred thousand live births) and total fertility rate is 2.3 per woman. Similarly, the rate of stunting in children below five years has decreased to 36 per cent.

According to household survey of Biratnagar 2076, total population is 305529. According to age & sex, below five populations are 19312.

Biratnagar Metropolitan City is the capital of Province No. 1 and the largest hospitals of Province 1 are located in this Metropolitan City. Due to this variety, their health behavior is also found to be different. Due to which some people have easy access to health services while others are deprived of health services. As a result, it can be easily assumed that the child morbidity rate and child mortality rate are high in Biratnagar metropolitan city.
